First Banquet of Board of Trade Why is the Elevator Closed? Town Loses Valuable Citizen Breeding Horses Arrive in Town Joint Meeting of Churches $1000 For Best Wheat Exhibit $15,000 Grant to Board of Trade

An Opportunity for Business Men to Congregate and Express Their Views on Publicity Campaign Planned by Board - Guests Invited

It is the intention of the Board of Trade to hold a business men's dinner, in the immediate future, when men of all trades in the town will be invited to attend and give their views and opinions as to the best system of giving Wainwright the prominence that she deserves.

Secretary King is now completing arrangements for the first banquet of this kind in the history of the town and no expense or pains are being spared to make it a pronounced success. Invitations have already been issued by the secretary to outside men, who are expected to attend. Mr. Hinton of the Grand Trunk Pacific, who has always manifested a great interest in the Buffalo Town, is among those on the invitation list, in addition to Mr. Hazelton, manager of the Wainwright Department of the International Securities Co., which is now advertising Wainwright extensively.

The outcome of this banquet is bound to result in a closer bond between the citizens and business men of the town with the Board of Trade. At this time, in the history of Wainwright, when the first fruits of effort are being reaped, something in this kind is considered an excellent move on the part of the Board of Trade. The time has now come, when the importance of the town must be realized, and when the opportunities of the district must be shown. At this dinner, the intentions of the Board of Trade for the coming summer will be fully explained, when suggestions from business men and those attending will be welcomed by those of whom the town expects so much.

With the advertising that Wainwright is now receiving and the impression that the district is creating upon the outside world, as evidenced by the many inquiries, the time has come when the man from Missouri appears on the scene and it is now up to the town and district to come through with that which they have to show, and from the experience of those already here, there is every guarantee that such can be done with satisfaction to prospective settlers.

Lenten Season At Church of England

Lenten services at the Church of England will commence on Sunday, March 5th, with Mr. Clark in charge. The subject for morning services through the season will be that of "Temptation," beginning March 5th, with the mystery of temptation, and continuing until April 8th, with the following subjects: Temptation means an end; Measure of Temptation; Method of Christ's victory over temptation; Blessedness of being tempted; Christ's patience. The evening subject during the same time will be "Men connected with the crucifixion," March 5th, will be Judas, followed by Pilate, Herod, Caiaphas, The Roman soldiers. The people, one each Sunday evening.

On the Wednesdays during Lent, services will be held at eight o'clock in the evening, with the following subjects, commencing March 8th, Sin, Doubt, Ambition, Self Mastery, Pain, Guidance.

Farmer in Wainwright District, Compelled to Leave Their Trade - Local Business Men Raise Hollar

Why is it that the local elevator is closed, at this season of the year, when the roads leading into Wainwright are the best that they have ever been in the history of the district? Such has been a frequent question during the past few weeks, when local representatives of business houses have scoured the country, in preparation of the coming season's business. The farmers of the district are asking the same question, in addition to the business men, but there seems to be no available answer. The elevator is closed and the business men of the town must suffer.

Perhaps this action on the part of Richardson & Son has been prompted by the fact that very little grain was brought into town during the last few months. That, certainly, was true but the reason for it, was the prevailing low price of grain, and the conditions of traffic during January, the several snow storms were responsible for grain being stored in the farmers' granaries, but now when prices are better and the roads in excellent condition, there is no Wainwright market for their harvest.

It is only reasonable that farmers entering other towns, where grain can be sold, should be considered an excellent move on the part of the Board of Trade. The time has now come, when the importance of the town must be realized, and when the opportunities of the district must be shown.

It is stated by one prominent local business man that grain is being hauled into Vermilion and Edmonton by farmers, who live but a few miles from their own trading town and that town is our town. Almost every farmer has a certain amount that has to be hauled to some buying station and even if the amount is small, it is enough when procured from all the farmers to amply repay the elevator being opened and, even if taken individually, a trip to town with a small load would not necessarily mean a small load being taken away. However, in any case, there is a loud cry for something to be done by the town and Board of Trade and the eventual opening of the elevator for the farmers, who have always traded in Wainwright.

Presentation Made To W. Silverwood

A very pleasant surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. W. Silverwood, on Wednesday evening last, when those who attended their farewell dance, presented the popular couple with a solid leather rocking chair and a leather seated chair. The presentation was made by David Davidson on the behalf of the local railway boys, accompanied by a short address.

Since coming to Wainwright, Mr. and Mrs. Silverwood have been most popular among the railway boys and citizens. Few of the former will forget the many dances given by them and the many pleasant times spent on such occasions.

Mr. Silverwood has procured a well deserving promotion in his transfer to Edmonton and his many friends will wish he and his genial wife much success in their new home.

A. M. McCorkle, Former Station Agent, Departs for New Mexico - Goes to Tucuman with El Paso and South Western Ry. - Firm Believer in Town

After nine months service with the Grand Trunk Pacific at this point, a total stranger on his arrival but in possession of many friends when departing, Mr. A. M. McCorkle, former station agent at the local depot, severed his connections with the road on Friday last. Believing agent E. G. Harper of Watrous arrived on the same day and will be in charge as station agent.

Mr. McCorkle came to Wainwright last spring from New Mexico, on leave of absence from the El Paso and South Western Railway and on arrival here, became chief freight clerk, which position he held with good satisfaction to the general public. On the transfer of W. H. Oliver to Edmonton, he was given the local agency. Since that time, Mr. McCorkle has been most genial and popular. In that capacity, among all with whom he came in contact. He leaves the service of the G. T. P. voluntarily and goes back to Tucuman, New Mexico as chief clerk in the Joint El Paso and South Western Railway, in the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific office.

Mr. McCorkle has always been a firm believer in the future of Wainwright as evidenced by his recent purchase of town lots.

Automobiles Begin to Arrive

The arrival of automobiles has commenced. On Monday, the Wainwright Flour and Feed Co., received the first consignment of three cars from the local agents of Edmonton. These cars have since been unloaded and are now in the warehouses of the local agents. In an interview P. Dewar, the manager of the local agency, stated that the three cars were those ordered sometime ago by Mr. H. Y. Fieldhouse, F. G. Cook, J. H. Dawson and the third, he expected to place with the local agency at Edmonton. The local agency at Edmonton, with John F. Mills as Manager, has guaranteed skilled assistance, in the knowledge of the cars and during the immediate future, a man is expected to arrive, who will instruct the above purchasers, in the mysteries of the machines.

R. Dalgleish of Olds, Here With Importation of Breed Horses - For Sale at Buffalo Livery - Consist of Percherons, Shires and Belgians

R. Dalgleish of Olds, representing the firm of W. W. Hunter, importers, has arrived in town with a grand consignment of stallions. Several of them were disposed of on the way. Among the bunch that arrived here, is the celebrated shire horse, Magnet 4th, sired by the great show horse, Hazelwood Major, - he is a beautiful dapple bay, rising four years old, with both size and quality. He has splendid limbs, good feet and has remarkable action, weighing 1975 pounds, having every indication of making a good show horse. He is bound to make a good stock horse on account of his pedigree breeding. In a class of 78 at the London horse show last year, Magnet was exhibited and received a high recommendation from the judges. Goodback 2nd, a road Percheron, is a typical horse of his breed, with a magnificent top and splendid limbs, good feet and a grand gait, weighing 1975. He is five years old, and was exhibited at Paris and won first prize in his class. Hazelton, another dapple gray Percheron, is a powerfully built animal and is a perfect model. He has not only the size but is one of the biggest breds three years old in the country. He was also exhibited at Paris and received first prize in his class. He weighs 1955 pounds and is sired by one of the best stock horses in France. These horses are all for sale on reasonable terms and it is to be hoped that some of them will be placed in the district. R. Dalgleish, the party in charge of these animals, is an old timer, having been in the west for 24 years, owning a horse ranch near Olds and has the reputation of having the horse business down to science, so that anyone wishing to procure any information, in that line of business, can gladly do so. Mr. Dalgleish will be in town for three weeks and will make Wainwright his headquarters, shipping in new animals from time to time.

A Barrel of Fun Guaranteed

On Thursday, March 9th, the theatre going public of the town will be treated to a performance, which, from present indications, promises to be of splendid class. The Kenny-Harvey Entertainers and their barrel of fun will appear at the local Auditorium, with comic songs, humorous skits, monologues, impersonations, etc.

Mr. LeRoy Kenny, the humorous entertainer and comic artist, has made a name for himself, before showing theatre goes in all the leading cities of Canada and has been greeted with packed houses, on every occasion. His strong company is a well balanced one and it is expected that the performance will be exceedingly good.

The Opera House management guarantees a splendid entertainment or refund the price of admission. In the face of this, there is little doubt about the performance will receive liberal patronage.

Mission Meeting of Committee of Presbyterian and Methodist Churches to prevent Overlapping - Amalgamation of the Two Churches

A meeting of much importance and interest, was held in the Grace Methodist Church Wainwright on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 23rd, and 24th. It was the first meeting of the Joint Committee of Methodists and Presbyterians of the Wainwright district in connection with the work of preventing overlapping in Mission Work by these two churches.

The Wainwright district is composed of all fields within the territory between Deville on G. T. P. railway and Killam on the C. P. R. to the Provincial boundary line on the East. The members of the Committee were Rev. T. C. Buchanan, Superintendent of Methodist Missions, Rev. W. D. Reid, Superintendent of Presbyterian Missions, Rev. W. E. Gold of Toileld, Rev. R. T. Harden of Provost, Rev. A. Russell and Thos. Phillips of Wainwright, Basil Hilliker of Viking, H. S. Armstrong of Irma, J. Hayes of Provost and A. Crookston of Toileld. Other ministers and laymen were present to confer with the Committee.

After careful consideration of the various fields of the whole district the following arrangements were made:

The Presbyterians are to have charge of the territory from Range One to Range Seven along the G. T. P. including Orinda and Paradise Valley. The Methodists to have charge of territory from Range Seven to Range Fourteen along the G. T. P. extending West of Wainwright to Bruce inclusive. Wainwright Missions not included in this arrangement.

The following resolution was passed: That it is strongly recommended that the people seek to carry out an amalgamation of Methodists and Presbyterians at both Ryley and Holden in view of Presbyterians withdrawing from Holden and the Methodists withdrawing from Ryley, and that a sub-committee consisting of the Superintendents of Missions from each denomination be appointed to further this amalgamation.

That the Methodists withdraw from Cadogan on the C. P. R. and the Presbyterians withdraw from Amisk or in other words, the territory West of a line running North and South midway between Cadogan and Hardisty be in charge of the Methodists and Eastward of said line to Provost but not including any part of this Provost Mission to be in charge of the Presbyterians.

That the Presbyterians withdraw from Hayer on C. P. R. That the Methodists withdraw from Killam and leave Loughheed to Presbyterians. That the Presbyterians withdraw from Sedgewick and leave Hardisty to the Methodists. That Groveland Appointment on the Sedgewick Mission be given over to Presbyterians and Hardings remain in charge of Methodists.

All these arrangements were unanimously assented to by the Committee.

Mr. J. H. Dawson left for Winnipeg on Tuesday, where he will be on business for a few days, after which he will proceed to several eastern and southern cities. Mr. Dawson will be absent for upwards of three weeks before returning.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy of the C.P.R. Offers Prize to Farmer Making the Best Exhibit of Grain at Madison Square Garden Exposition Next Fall

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is determined that the agriculture of Canada will soon rest upon the laurels, won in competition with the world at the various expositions of the past decade. At practically every exposition of worth, where Canadians entered grain, representative of Canada's best, the boards have been swept by the product of our prairies.

American interests, while admitting that we have proven our superiority as a grain growing country, are endeavoring to produce grain that will place the United States in the enviable position in which we now find ourselves. While admitting the effect of the United States, Sir Thomas does not fear the ultimate outcome. This statement has direct proof in the announcement made to the public, which reads in part as follows:

In connection with the American Land and Irrigation Exposition to be held at Madison Square Gardens, New York, next November, the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has announced that he will present one thousand dollars in gold to the farmer who will produce the best wheat and barley crop or winter wheat on the continent of America, and it is but natural to suppose that this handsome gift will bring together the finest and greatest collection of wheat ever gathered together at any fair in the world.

Merchants will do well to give due publicity to this generous offer. If your town receives the prize it will result in the world recognizing your particular district as the premier wheat-growing section, (Trades Gazette).

Edmonton Council Will Increase Grant to Board of Trade - Vigorous Publicity Campaign will be Carried Out - Town in Province Fall in Line

The mayor and council in committee of the whole visited the offices of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon for the purpose of ascertaining the nature of the work carried on by the institution. The visit was undertaken by the invitation of the president and secretary of the Board of Trade issued to the council at the last regular meeting when the matter of an increased grant was the subject of discussion. In view of the vigorous publicity campaign which it is proposed to undertake during 1911 the board of trade, which received last year from the city council a grant of $10,000 is asking for an increase of $5,000 which will bring the grant for 1911 to $15,000. The attitude of the council seemed favorable and the officials of the Board of Trade confidently anticipate that the full grant asked for will be made at the next regular meeting.

Town Should Profit By Experience

A few days ago, an incident took place, which went to show how easily a fire may be started and how promptly it can be saved. A fire started in the house of Mr. J. H. Dawson, who lives with Mrs. J. H. Dawson, was bringing a box of matches to Mr. Dawson and Mr. Dawson, when the box fell from her hand to the carpet. Almost immediately, the whole box was in a blaze and the carpet on which it fell was ruined. Had it not been for quick action on the part of the two men, the house would have been in flames before the fire fighting apparatus could have reached the scene. Such accidents as this should prove a warning, especially at this time of the year.

Millions for Western Canada.

J. HARRY WALKER, Commissioner of Immigration, recently predicted that within 25 years Western Canada would have a population of Twenty-Five Million souls.

Last year 335,000 settlers located in Western Canada—nearly a thousand a day. It is expected that the number this year will be much larger—that at least 150,000 will come from the States alone. Already the rush to Western Canada has begun. Trainloads of immigrants are crossing the continent every few days from the eastern seaboard. There is every indication that this will be Western Canada's biggest year.

Wainwright district with its tens of thousands of acres of rich farming land still uncultivated, will furnish homes for thousands of new settlers, who will swell the volume of Wainwright's trade and make its continued rapid growth in population necessary.

Do You Believe in Wainwright?

Do you believe that it is going to make one of the leading cities of Western Canada—that Wainwright and the surrounding country will get their share of the coming millions? If you do, then you must believe that Wainwright real estate offers an exceptionally good opportunity for profitable investment. Show your faith by investing your money in Wainwright.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET

Within the next few weeks, the business men of the town will have an excellent opportunity of coming together and exchanging their views on existing conditions at the first business man's banquet ever held in the town.

There are many things in which the members and governing committee of any Board of Trade can be helped. Sometimes, on an uncertainty of conditions, sometimes with wrong impressions and more often because they are backed by other forces. A few weeks ago, the present Board were elected to office by a small representation of the ratepayers, although those elected were probably the choice of the majority. This aggregation has a most important duty to perform—the members have practically had the future business welfare of the town and district, entrusted to their keeping for the next year. They cannot work alone, assistance must be obtained from every citizen, ratepayer and inhabitant of the community.

Arrangements are now being made for this business man's banquet and when the occasion arrives, the Board of Trade will look forward to many suggestions, on the part of citizen, business man and those interested in the future prosperity of the town.

IMMIGRATION RUSH.

Montreal—The immigration rush to Canada for 1911 is on. The advance guard from England will arrive some time this week. Scouts have already put in an appearance to look over the ground. The Grand Trunk, C. P. R. and the Canadian Northern have all carried on an unprecedented campaign in Great Britain for their respective territories in Canada, and this is already showing its effect in the tremendous rush of bookings for all the boats coming to Canada this spring.

The starting of the rush of immigrants the first week in February is eloquent of the popular feeling in England for Canada as a land of opportunities, for the immigration agents discourage as much as possible coming of new settlers to this country before March.

RECIPROCITY IN BRIEF

Calgary Alberta—The reciprocity agreement is not complicated, involved or difficult to understand. It means that the United States has removed the duty upon Canadian wheat, Canadian cattle, Canadian grain of all kinds, and Canadian coke. It means, accordingly, that our farmers will get much more for their wheat, their oats; that a barley market will be created that our cattle will be worth from $5 to $7 more a head, and that new life will be given to the coke industry. That is what the reciprocity agreement will mean to us. It will mean the opening of the great United States market. It will mean the coming of thousands of the best settlers in the world to Alberta. Is not that worth while?

The capitalist frequently works very hard. So does the burglar. The difference between the two is that the operations of the capitalist are legalized while those of the burglar are not.

GRABBING UNCLE SAM

The Washington Post, looked upon as the mouthpiece of the Washington administration, points the following:

"What ridiculous these Canadians are to be sure! A great awakening awaits them. In making this agreement we cut a melon leaving only the rind and the seeds to the other party of the bargain. We simply reach over and take what looks good to us, without a thought of handing over anything in exchange."

Opponents of the reciprocity say the farmers have asked too much. They seem to forget that for the past thirty years the manufacturers have asked too much—and got it; the steel industries asked too much—and got it. And so on down the line. Of course it is alright for the special interests to have all they want. But it is very serious thing for the farmers and working classes to have a square deal. (Grain Growers Guide.)

It is reported from London, England that the five thousand western bachelors offered on that matrimonial market were over-subscribed a few hours after the books were opened.

On February 18th, Premier Asquith made the definite declaration that a bill providing for home rule for Ireland would be brought in at the next session of the British parliament.

A Detroit man has just received $300,000 from an insurance company through living to be 75 years of age. His name should be inscribed in the Temple of Fame as the only living example of a man who ever beat an insurance company.

On February 16th, one hundred prospective wives arrived at Halifax, on board the Royal Edward, from England, Scotland and Ireland. All were bound to meet prospective husbands in Canadian North-West. On arriving in Alberta, they will no doubt find that the province is the King of the marriage belt.

"Santa Claus Joe"

He Makes a Happy Christmas For Two Lovers

By ANNIE HINKINCHEN
Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.

Joe was a Portuguese urchin, six years old and smiling with the accustomed kind of his own. He lived with his father and mother and numerous brothers and sisters in a dilapidated cabin in the outskirts of the city.

Their neighbors were fellow expatriates speaking their own tongue and continuing their own customs, and Joe's only knowledge of the world that lay beyond the track farms had been gained when he went with his father to peddle vegetables in the city.

A bullet intended for a rabbit entered Joe's leg, and he was brought to the hospital.

Miss Merton, a senior nurse, was his "nurse." She was with him through the days when all his world was full of horrors.

She was his first nurse and the one he first felt was his friend.

In a hospital living and dying more according to routine than the progress of a case is routine to the experienced ones. Dislocation takes place in certain known steps.

But one element of which no account is taken, for which no calculation is made, is the love of a man and a woman.

In the hospital life there is no place for it. A nurse's time and thoughts are devoted to her work. Her love and sympathy belong to her patients.

Concerning the relations of doctors and nurses hospital etiquette is strict. It demands that these relations be absolutely professional. The reputation of a hospital depends on the discipline maintained within its walls, and the laws of St. Anne's were enforced with severity.

When interests quite unprofessional drew together a senior nurse and one of the young physicians of the hospital staff, there appeared difficulties and embarrassment, and the courtship under the adverse circumstances of disapprobation, conscience and lack of time, place and opportunity, made slow and halting progress, with frequent backward steps.

"Will you go for a walk tonight?" asked Dr. Knight one morning when with Miss Merton's assistance he was dressing Joe's wound.

"With you?"

"Certainly."

"Announce all the heads and a few doctors and nurses."

"There are places where heads and doctors and nurses don't go."

"Yes, on back streets. I hate that sort of thing—going out alone and meeting you on a corner and sneaking along back streets."

"There is no other way we can see each other. You will come tonight, won't you?"

She shook her head. "I graduate next spring," she said, a little wistfully. "Can't we wait till then to be friends?"

"What's the use of waiting? No one will know. But if you are found out your previous good record will save you."

The words and tone were blunt and earnest.

Miss Merton did not answer. She fastened Joe's bandage and left the room.

As she passed him Dr. Knight saw her face, hurt, proud and angry, all its sweetness gone.

For many days Mr. Knight saw Miss Merton only in the presence of others. She avoided him in the corridors and met him only in the rooms of patients.

There was nothing he could say to her.

And if every night, would make him a good boy.

Sometimes he confused his prayer with the finger she taught him and said the words of "Little Nipper" instead of "Now I lay me."

She always came in the evening to hear his prayer, and Dr. Knight would come and listen. But he never spoke to Dr. Knight and never seemed to know that he was near.

Christmas eve came. Miss Merton took Joe down to the hospital chapel in his wheeled chair. At the door he shut his eyes tight for a second and then dashed them open.

The room was full of light and the warm, sweet smell of fresh pine branches, roses of holly and evergreen, draped the ceiling and the walls, and from the ropes hung little red balls—such cheery little bells that they seemed to send out with their rosy color a Christmas greeting.

In the center of the platform at the end of the room stood the Christmas tree.

It was tall and wide and covered with twinkling candles, glistening ornaments and packages tied with red and green ribbons.

On the floor were piled more packages than many of them that the floor was covered.

The patients were all there. Old Mrs. Cline, and her husband, and a child in a chair near the platform. Her face was radiant, and occasionally she lifted her one sound hand and pointed to the Christmas tree.

Mr. Furr, who two weeks before had lost both legs, was brought in on a stretcher. The oldest inhabitant, a paralytic, was wheeled in on his bed.

The convalescents, with crutches and crutches set in easy chairs or lay on pillows on the chapel benches.

The surgeons and the hospital nurses on their way to Christmas eve dinner had come in and were affecting the air of joyful small boys.

The first package taken from the tree was for Joe. Another was laid in his lap and another. They came fast. They filled his chair and lay on the floor around him.

There were toys of all kinds, balls of all sizes and colors, tops of every style, animals of every material, books with pictures rattling in them, compass, puzzle, paint boxes, picture books, a lovely, mainly colored card that waved a hoop.

There were shoes, stockings, underwear, a suit of clothes, needles, handkerchiefs and mittens.

After the happy child had been put to bed, his nurse, where he could see them Dr. Knight came in.

"Where's your lady, Joe?" he asked. "Downstairs."

"Did she hear you say your prayers?"

"Yes, and she said her prayers too. They aren't like my prayers. And she says 'Just a little cry'."

"What did she say when she prayed, Joe?"

"She put her head down in my arms, and she said 'Dear Father, I love him and I'm so lonely.' And she said 'I'm so lonely.' And she said 'I'm so lonely.'"

Harold Knight dropped the child's hand and hurried out of the room and upstairs to the chapel. Miss Merton was there alone. He went quickly up to her and took her hands.

"Edith," he began. "Edith, I want to see you."

She stepped back and tried to draw away her hands. The movement of her head brought her cap close to a candle on the tree. The light flared suddenly, his hand was quickly up to her and took her hands.

She caught his hand and tried to open it. He clutched it and the cap in it.

"Is it your cap you want?" he asked. "No, your hand," he cried.

"I've been suffering for weeks and you haven't cared."

"You wanted a silly flirtation, and you were hurt. I served you right."

"Will you marry me, Edith? I shall not ask for any more clandestine meetings. I'll try to be patient and wait. Can't you love me? You love Joe and Miss Curtis and the babies. Can't you care for me instead of for all those other people?"

"I'm tired of caring for people. I think I'd like to have some body care for me."

Before the next Christmas came round Edith had taken off her nurse's uniform and had a bride dress. Harold Knight was the happy man, and it was arranged that the wedding should take place at the hospital among those who loved both the bride and the groom.

Joe, of course, was present and watched the proceedings with eyes wide open.

When the ceremony was over and congratulations had been over Dr. and Mrs. Knight drove away to their own home.

And that is why in the happy after years Dr. and Mrs. Knight always referred to Joe as Santa Claus Joe.

The irony of Fate.

"Fa, what's the irony of fate?"

"I'll try to explain it as well as I can. One day had a strong desire to save up something for a rainy day. I thought myself very prudent so that I might put by a little from time to time, and at last I had quite a nest little pile."

"One night your mother became possessed of a foolish idea that she smelled smoke, and when she stuck her head out of the window she saw our neighbors turned in an alarm. The department quickly responded, and before I could get my trousers on they had knocked a hole in the roof and absolutely ruined everything I had saved up for the rainy day by pouring water on it."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The class "It suits to a T," meaning it fits exactly, is as old as the familiar instrument, the T square or T rule (called from its resemblance to the letter T), used by mechanics and draftsmen for making angles true and for obtaining perpendicular lines. The expression was in common use in the time of Dr. Johnson, who is quoted as saying that a hundred points in the eye have fitted him to T.

Proposed Termination of H. S. Railway Is 234 Years Old.

Since Fort Nelson has been almost decided on as the support and terminal of the Hudson Bay Railway, it becomes interesting as a matter of history to go back 234 years to the time when this other was first proposed.

The Hudson Bay Co. was incorporated in 1680, it was in the year 1680 when the first proposal for a railway was made.

These Frenchmen had sent a party of eighty men under Thibault de Monroville to wipe out Fort Nelson and other forts which had been established in the north. I. Verreille was one of this party and to their credit be it said that they traveled up the Ottawa River to Lake Temiscamingue, up the Montreal River, and by portages into James Bay, a trip, which even in the present day would be considered a great feat.

The Montreal and the Ottawa River was one of the earliest inhabited parts of Ontario, and tourists going to Kirk City today all pass Graveyard Point at Mountain Lake, where some of the earliest settlers in Canada are buried.

These Frenchmen carried out all the posts and drove the Hudson Bay factors and their associates out. A year or two later Fort Nelson was lost.

THAT CENSUS CHAP.

Troubles of the Enumerators in England Told by One of Them.

"Yes, I am looking forward to some funny experiences," said an enumerator in his last days in England.

"Amusing incidents? Rather! Perhaps my funniest was with an elderly woman who was somewhat comical herself, a domestic, and a gentlemanly. When I called for her paper I found she had not correctly stated her age."

"She had correctly described her condition as to marriage, but had added the superfluous information 'to be married shortly.' The same note was appended to the particulars relating to her husband, who was evidently about to be promoted to the position of master of the house."

"A male householder, who would insist on describing himself as a 'gentleman,' occasioned me a good deal of trouble. He protested that he had no Christian name, and that he was too young at the time to have any knowledge of his date and place of his birth."

"But he disclaimed being a 'particular chap,' and said I could write him down as Beesbub, born at Jericho in the year one."

"Another enumerator was astonished to find a peer's wife described as a 'cross-widow,' and her son as a 'shock'!"

"These flippancies were followed by legal proceedings."

"A young electrician was a non-holder in a Devonshire town. This man declined to fill up his paper on the ground that he was unaware of his own name and the place of his birth. He was not going to 'perjure' himself by making a false return."

"Quite a delicious anecdote was put forward by a country clergyman for returning to return his paper to the parish clerk. He forwarded it direct to the central office, with a letter explaining that he did so because he did not want his wife's age to be put in the neighborhood."

"The enumerator who called for a return from a certain farm was much tickled at seeing in it a note stating that the land and author was, according to his title, 'both an idiot and a lunatic.'"

"At the house of a night-worker, I remember the official was informed that this individual was in bed. His reply that he must see him at once the comforting assurance, 'All right go to him if you like. He has only been laid an hour, and he left word that he would kill anybody who woke him up. And he'll do it, too.'"

"But the funniest occupation of all seems to have been followed by a boy, who wrote himself down as an 'apple polisher.'"

"Hindus candidly described themselves as 'professional debtors,' 'constant borrowers,' 'men of 'several resources.' Others still more candidly told themselves 'thieves and rogues.'"

"One Hindu recalled that he could not work because he was a fool. Another said he was a madman."

"But there was an air of refreshment and candor about the native who declared that he was making a business of marrying off his daughters for money."

"A lame occupation, or, as the French would say, a 'profession of arms,' was followed by a boy, who wrote himself down as an 'apple polisher.'"

DO YOU NEED OVERALLS?

If You Do, Why Don't You Make Them Yourself—It's Dead Easy.

Many a man says that he would be glad to do chores about the house, to trim the grass or weed the garden if he had overalls.

The trouble is that when he wishes to wear overalls the stores are closed and he cannot buy them. I wonder if most men do not make them for themselves.

To provide a pattern you must have an outline or perspective plan of your contour from the belt line down to the ankles. This may be obtained by sitting in wet clay and, on arising, pouring plaster of Paris in the impression. When this hardens lift the mold, lean it against the wall and obtain measurements with a tape-line. Another way is to fasten a piece of paper on the carpet until it is fairly taut. Then sit down on the taut paper and mark the contour, thus removing the tautness from the paper. The outline of that impression with a sharp knife, remove the carpet so detached, and you have a pattern for the side of the overalls.

Purchase several yards of denim and cut it into the shape indicated by either pattern you have obtained. Make two sets of these pieces and sew them together with a sharp knife, remove the carpet so detached, and you have a pattern for the side of the overalls.
